BOY Onsite Workshops

Morning Session: Amira ISIP, Evaluar, & Tutor

Time: 8:30–11:30

Audience: Teachers, Campus Leaders

This beginning-of-year onsite training will equip teachers with the knowledge and tools needed to launch Amira effectively and support student growth from the start of the year. Participants will explore new Amira features, including Evaluar and Tutora, review implementation best practices, and discuss how to establish classroom systems and routines that support consistent usage and student engagement. Teachers will also examine key reports that support BOY planning, helping them monitor student progress, identify instructional priorities, and plan differentiated support aligned to student needs.

Afternoon Session (I): Amira ISIP, Evaluar, Tutor

Time: 12:30–2:00

Audience: Admin, Campus Leaders

This beginning-of-year onsite training will support New Mexico administrators in launching a successful year with Amira ISIP, Evaluar, and Amira Tutor.

Participants will explore “what’s new” product highlights, review key implementation logistics, and learn practical leadership strategies to support educator readiness, fidelity, consistency, and instructional impact across campuses. Administrators will also examine key reports to monitor progress, identify trends, support data-driven conversations, and make informed decisions that strengthen implementation and student outcomes.

Afternoon Session (II): ISIP Math

Time: 2:30–3:30

Audience: Teachers, Campus Leaders

In this session, teachers will use ISIP Math data to make timely instructional decisions that support numeracy growth. Participants will analyze key reports, identify student needs and trends, and connect assessment data to targeted classroom instruction. Teachers will leave with practical next steps, resources, and strategies for monitoring progress, grouping students, and planning meaningful math support throughout the school year.

MOY Onsite Workshops

Morning Session: Amira ISIP, Evaluar, & Tutor

Time: 8:30–11:30

Audience: Teachers, Campus Leaders

Participants will analyze MOY Amira student data to reflect on growth, identify trends, and determine instructional priorities for the remainder of the school year. Educators and leaders will collaborate to interpret key reports, examine student progress, identify skill gaps, and connect data insights to targeted instructional practices. The session will also provide time to reflect on best practices, classroom routines, and implementation structures that support consistent Amira Tutor usage and meaningful reading growth from MOY to EOY. Participants will leave with clear next steps for using data to adjust instruction, monitor progress, and strengthen support for students across all layers of instruction.

Afternoon Session (I): Amira ISIP, Evaluar, Tutor

Time: 12:30–2:00

Audience: Admin, Campus Leaders

This session helps campus leaders use MOY Amira data to reflect on student progress, identify trends, and refine the systems and routines that support strong implementation. Administrators will explore the admin dashboard to monitor usage, growth, and areas of need, while considering how classroom routines, progress monitoring practices, and leadership check-ins can strengthen support from MOY to EOY. Participants will leave with actionable next steps to maximize Tutor usage, support instructional decision-making, and sustain reading growth through the end of the year.

Afternoon Session (II): ISIP Math

Time: 2:30–3:30

Audience: Teachers, Campus Leaders

This session equips educators and instructional leaders to turn MOY ISIP Math results into meaningful instructional action. Participants will examine key reports, identify trends in student growth and skill development, and connect data insights to targeted classroom support. Through guided analysis and collaborative planning, participants will leave with practical next steps to strengthen math instruction, monitor progress, and support continued growth from MOY to EOY. This 90-minute onsite session equips educators and instructional leaders to turn MOY ISIP Math results into meaningful instructional action. Participants will examine key reports, identify trends in student growth and skill development, and connect data insights to targeted classroom support. Through guided analysis and collaborative planning, participants will leave with practical next steps to strengthen math instruction, monitor progress, and support continued growth from MOY to EOY.

EOY Onsite Workshops

Morning Session: Amira ISIP, Evaluar, & Tutor

Time: 8:30–11:30

Audience: Teachers, Campus Leaders

This EOY session will support educators and leaders in reflecting on student reading growth, instructional impact, and implementation progress across the school year using Amira ISIP data. Participants will examine key end-of-year reports to identify growth trends, celebrate student progress, and better understand areas of continued need at the student, classroom, grade, and campus levels. Educators and leaders will use EOY findings to reflect on what worked well, determine where additional support may be needed, and connect data insights to next steps for summer learning, student transitions, and instructional planning. The session will also emphasize how to strengthen systems, routines, and data practices for the following school year to sustain momentum and support continued reading growth.

Afternoon Session (I): Amira ISIP, Evaluar, Tutor

Time: 12:30–2:00

Audience: Admin, Campus Leaders

This three-hour onsite session will support administrators in using EOY Amira ISIP data to reflect on reading growth, implementation progress, and campus or district trends across the school year. Leaders will examine key admin reports to celebrate student progress, identify areas of continued need, and better understand patterns in usage, growth, and instructional impact.

Participants will connect EOY findings to leadership actions that support data-informed conversations, student transitions, summer planning, and instructional priorities for the following school year. The session will also provide time to reflect on systems, routines, and implementation structures that contributed to success, while identifying opportunities to strengthen fidelity, consistency, and educator support moving forward. Administrators will leave with clear next steps for sustaining reading growth and planning a stronger Amira implementation for the next school year.

Afternoon Session (II): ISIP Math

Time: 2:30–3:30

Audience: Teachers, Campus Leaders

This one-hour onsite session will support educators in using EOY ISIP Math data to reflect on student growth and better understand progress across the school year. Participants will examine end-of-year reports to identify whole-class trends, individual student growth patterns, and areas of continued need across math domains. The session will also provide time for reflection as teachers consider what the data reveals about student learning, instructional impact, and growth from BOY to EOY.
